

Faculty/Staff Readership Subscriptions

The UNL Readership Program is available to faculty and staff. You may purchase USA TODAY and/or The New York Times newspaper subscriptions at a discounted price. The program is managed by the Nebraska Unions in cooperation with the USA TODAY distributor. Questions regarding the Faculty/Staff Readership Program may be directed to Kim Culver (472-8164).

Newspaper Information: Delivery begins January 9, 2012

USA TODAY	The New York Times
$0.42/day for 75 days = $31.50//semester	$0.50/day for 75 days = $37.50/semester
USA TODAY and The New York Times --$0.92/day for 75 days = $69.00/semester

You may subscribe to either one or both newspapers. Subscriptions are for the entire semester; those starting after the beginning of the semester will be prorated based on the subscription date through the end of the semester.

Distribution Information

Subscription dates follow the Student Readership Program (every day classes are in session and the first day of finals week). Semester distribution begins the first day of classes, Mon. -Fri.

Newspapers will be available per schedules list below.

Your faculty/staff Ncard must be presented when you pick up your prepaid newspaper at the distribution location that you select, during its operational hours. Newspapers will be held at the locations for one day following the publication date, then recycled.

- The New York Times will extend a complimentary subscription if you are requiring your students to read it for class. Please email your syllabus to paul.wilson@pcfcorp.com for implementation.
- USA TODAY will extend a complimentary e-Edition subscription if you are requiring your students to read it for class. Please email your syllabus to mramatowski@usatoday.com for implementation.
